ILCE on the road – Workshops /Seminars

Newsletter 33

ILCE had a successful workshop "All About Lean Construction and its Application (Basic)" on 23 July 2011 at Sardar Patel College of Engineering, Andheri (W), Mumbai 400058.

The audience for the workshop was from 25 different companies and the total number of the participants was 95.

Some companies had sent big contingents ranging from Vice-Presidents, Sr.Project Managers and working Engineers from the field.

The Principal Speakers at the Seminar were :

- (i) Mr. Amar Peswani, Construction Management Consultant
- (ii) Mr. P. Sampath, Secretary General ILCE
- (iii) Mr. Rajeev Dua, Director, Optimization Consultants
- (iv) Mr. Girish Dravid, Director, Sterling Engineering
- (v) Col.M. Kapoor, Advisor, Sobha Academy

The focus of the workshop was :

- (1) Explanation and Definition of Lean Construction
- (2) Wastages prevailing in the Construction Industry and mitigation thereof
- (3) Ambience essential for application of Lean Construction
- (4) Application of Lean Construction in day to day construction at sites
- (5) Application of Partnership approach for eliminating / mitigating adversarial relationships
- (6) A case study of Lean in Design

- (7) A case study of Lean in Procurement – 23 day cycle brought down to 1 day
- (8) Improved Partnership – Alliance Contracting

The Workshop emphasized that Lean Construction practice should not be put for another day and the Workshop on how to do the same in the existing work whether it is a start or a mid-way project.

As indicated from the feedback, the Workshop was a revelation.

ILCE do feels - Lean Construction is on the road for the Construction Industry.
